

World-Class Expertise

Experts at Early Case Assessment, Defensible Search and Multi-Language Review

Catalyst consultants—savvy litigation attorneys and digital search experts—offer unparalleled expertise in early case assessment, defensible search strategies and multi-language review. Our consultants have decades of experience managing large document populations and can help your team craft effective search and review strategies.

Catalyst's Consulting team is dedicated to helping reduce document populations and making your review more effective.

Partnering with Your Team for Success

We're here to help you get the most out of Catalyst's powerful technology tools. After all, we created them. You'll find us to be a reliable, resourceful partner committed to your success. We work with your team to help reduce document populations, develop searches and identify critical documents. We also stand ready to provide testimony to back up our approach.

From Early Case Assessment to Managed Review

Our consultants have years of experience in helping legal teams:

- Identify key documents, themes, custodians and timetables
- Develop and test searches prior to review
- Find relevant documents using advanced statistical methods
- Develop and implement effective review strategies

It's All in the Algorithms

We integrate mathematical formulas, statistical algorithms and other data-mining techniques to help clients develop and implement sophisticated search, culling and review strategies. These methods help us identify potentially responsive documents for review or remove non-responsive documents.

Managed Review Services

We work with you on document review strategies to help get the most out of our Review Module. We can also staff your review (on or off-shore) and help manage the team.

Multi-Language Review Services

We can provide multi-language search experts and a team of reviewers fluent in over 100 languages. We can also identify and route documents by language content so your reviewers get the right documents at the right time.

The Catalyst Advantage—Legal Technology Experts Supporting World-Class Technology

We combine a powerful search, analytics and review platform with a talented team of legal and technology professionals who will work with you to reduce document populations and better focus your review. The team knows the Catalyst platform intimately and has spent years perfecting techniques to make your review more effective and efficient. That's the Catalyst Advantage.
